THE CHRISTIAN HOME IN A MODERN WORLD

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 6:3-9; Matt. 19:3-9; Luke 2:40-52; 14:26-33; Eph. 5: 3-9; II Tim. 1:3-5; II Tim. 14:15; Luke 2:40-52.

GOLDEN TEXT—Honor thy father and thy mother.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Pleasing God in Our Home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Pleasing God in Our Home.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Living as Christians at Home.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian Home: Its Helps and Hindrances.

Instead of an exposition of the printed text, as suggested by the lesson committee, it will be better to make a synthetic study of the salient points of the several reference texts proposed by the committee.

I. The Makers of the Home (Matt. 19:3-9).

The home is a divine institution. Its makers are the man and the woman joined together in holy wedlock according to God's primary law—one man for one woman and one woman for one man.

1. The union is so vital that God declared the man and the woman to be one flesh (Gen. 2:24).

2. Divorce was not in God's thought for man (v. 6).

It was only permitted because of sin (v. 8). Divorce has the disapproval of God and right thinking men and women.

3. Fornication the one and only ground for divorce (v. 9).

Laxness of the divorce laws causes the Christian to hang his head in shame.

II. The Ideal Child (Luke 2:40-52)

Marriage has as its primary purpose the propagation of the race. Children are to be desired and expected. Christ stands as the ideal child in the home.

1. His central interest (v. 49).

"My father's business." Being conscious of His Mission He entered the temple to inquire into the meaning of the ordinances of God's house.

2. His obedience (v. 51).

Though fully conscious of His divine being and mission, He went down to Nazareth and lived a life of filial obedience.

3. His development (v. 52).

(1). Bodily—"Increased in stature." His body became strong. A strong, healthy body is the inalienable right of every child, and parents are obligated to provide food and raiment such as to preserve their health.

(2) Mental—"Increased in wisdom." As a normal human being, his mental powers developed.

(3) Spiritual—"The grace of God was upon him," and he increased in favor with God and man. How beautiful is the picture of the symmetrical development of the Savior of men.

III. The Place of God's Word in the Home (Deut. 6:3-9).

The home has a vital teaching function. The child develops slowly; remains in the home for a long time to give an opportunity to be taught the things of God.

1. The central truth to be taught (vv. 4, 5).

This is twofold. The unity of God (v. 4) and man's supreme obligation to God (v. 5).

2. How the truth was to be kept alive (vv. 6-9).

(1) It was to be diligently taught to the children (v. 7).

(2) It was to be talked of every where and under all circumstances.

(3) It was to be bound upon the hand and placed as frontlets between the eyes (v. 8).

(4) It was to be written upon the posts of the houses (v. 9).

IV. The Early Training of the Child (II Tim. 1:3-5; 3:14, 15).

Timothy was taught the Scriptures from his childhood by a godly mother and grandmother. The Holy Spirit uses the Word of God in the salvation of children as well as adults.

V. Christ a Guest in the Home (Luke 24:28-32).

At the urgent invitation of certain disciples, Christ tarried in their home and sat at meat with them. Christ will come into the home and bless those who sincerely invite Him.

VI. Mutual Relation of the Members of the Home (Eph. 6:1-9).

Each member has certain rights and privileges which must be respected. Children are to obey and honor their parents. Parents are not to provoke their children to wrath, but to bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. Servants are to be obedient to their masters and to render service as unto the Lord. Masters are to show consideration to their servants, since they themselves are servants to the heavenly Master.

Faith

When we are confronted by misery which needs relief, suffering which requires sympathy, folly which should be reproved, ignorance waiting for counsel, sin pleading forgiveness, the true prayer is, "Lord, increase our faith." Nothing is impossible to faith.

A Daily Thought

I say to you truly, the heart of him who loves is a parallax on earth; he has God in himself, for God is love.—Lamennais.

Appomattox High School

Activities of Home Economics For the Montth

The Mary Swartz Rose Club held its regular monthly meeting on November 6th.

The subject—Resolved :That our grandmother was a greater asset to the community than her flapper granddaughter, was debated by six girls. Two readings were rendered to make the meeting interesting.

This department entertained the county officials at a luncheon November 13. Between courses Supt. Burke made a very interesting talk on the extension of Home Economic work in this county and explained that Appomattox High School was fortunate to be one of eight schools in the State to have Home Economics taught the year around. The funds for this additional work are being provided for by Federal appropriation.

Then Miss Jones explained home projects and the plans for carrying on this work.

On November 22nd a Rook party was held at the cottage for the benefit of the club. About 25 were present, the proceeds amounting to $6. The club voted to use $1 of this for Red Cross.

TRANSLATES INDIAN "BOOK OF GENESIS"

Expert Takes 30 Years to Complete Epic Poem.

Washington.—An American aboriginal narrative poem, described as the Indian "Book of Genesis," has been translated into English.

The work was completed by J. N. Hewitt of the bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian institution after thirty years of work.

The poem traces the Indian conception of the creation of man and is expected to prove a valuable contribution to American letters, both for its intrinsic literary value and for the light it throws on the workings of the Indian mind in attempting to solve the eternal problem.

The bulk of the epic relates the adventures of the Dehaehiyawakho, an imaginary man-being who is called the master of life.

Before his "arrival and creation of man and the world" there was believed to have been a "sunless and moonless skyland, lighted only by the snowy white flowers of the great tree of light."

Much confusion is created in the mind of the average reader by the amazing phenomena detailed in the poem. This, Mr. Hewitt explains, is because of the unstullarity of creative thought between Indian mythology and the workings of the more familiar European mythology.

Dehaehiyawakho, for whose origin there is only nebulous explanation in the primitive lyrics is portrayed as the creator of man while his brother, Ohan, roughly corresponds to the theological devil, according to Mr. Hewitt.

The creator won the government and rulership of all living things by a game of bowl and plum pits with his grandmother, in which he shook as dice the heads of chicadees kept magically alive and acting according to his bidding.

The songs and stories which generation after generation of Iriquois have handed down by word of mouth depict the adventures of the two brothers.

They are prepared for their first appearance by Mr. Hewitt, who, deprecating the loss of emotional stress which is lent only by the Indian tongue, believes the beauty of the primitive imagination, which is retained in the translation, will compensate for this loss.

KEEP CLOSE GUARD ON BROKERS' LOANS

U. S. Officials Say There's No Chance of Leak.

Washington.—Utmost precautions to assure secrecy prior to publication of the weekly brokers' loans figures, regarded widely as the single most important barometer of stock market activity, are taken by the federal reserve system.

Reports circulated recently in Wall Street that a "leak" existed by which these figures are obtained prematurely by some brokers are discounted by reserve system officials who made public their method of handling the loan report, issued at 4 p. m. each Thursday.

Compiled in the New York federal reserve bank each week on the basis of mailed reports from reporting member banks in New York city, the detailed report showing the total of loans to stock market operators for the week are telephoned here each Thursday at 3:15 after close of the stock exchange.

Locked Room.

The report is received at the reserve board's offices here by one man who is locked in a room with a messenger shortly before that time. Without leaving the locked room, the man simultaneously the reports and places them in a sealed envelope addressed to Gov. Roy A. Young of the federal reserve board.

When prepared, the reports are entrusted to the messenger, who rushes them direct to Governor Young's office. On the dot of four o'clock the envelopes are unsealed and the reports placed on the press table in the governor's spacious office on the second floor of the treasury department's huge gray stone building.

In the opinion of reserve board officials, this procedure eliminates completely any possibility of a leak in the figures from Washington. The reserve board has been advised by the New York reserve bank that extremely careful precautions are taken there to make sure the figures are not released in advance.

Indicator of Trading.

Because of fluctuations in the stock market in recent months interest in the weekly report by the reserve board on the extent of borrowings by brokers in New York has been intense. In the past six months the weekly brokers' loans figure has constantly risen until now nearly $7,000,000,000 is considered as indicative of the volume of trading on the New York exchange.

Responding to questions raised in Wall Street about the accuracy of the reserve board's brokers' loan figures, officials explained that the report does not represent the total borrowings by brokers inasmuch as only loans made through member banks are reported to the reserve system. In recent years an increasingly large percentage of brokers' loans have been made direct to the mart by private banks, corporations and foreign agencies.

Lendings by these private agencies aggregated $1,472,000,000 on September 30, and such direct lendings to the stock exchange have increased $400,000,000 in this year alone. This element of loans unreported through official channels makes prediction of what the loan report will show decidedly uncertain, officials emphasized.

Stole 300,000 Chickens; Now Protects Farmers

New York.—Robert F. Stephens, who says he stole 300,000 chickens in eastern Nebraska and western Iowa during a period of eighteen months, now hopes to protect farmers from night prowlers through the publication of his memoirs.

Stephens tells in Farm and Fireside, how he headed a gang operating with swift automobile trucks, robbed between 10,000 and 15,000 hen roosts and was finally caught and sentenced to the Nebraska state reformatory. He has now finished his sentence and has already exposed several fake protection agencies, saving farmers nearly $100,000 a year. He plans to expose the methods of small farm robberies in a manner which he says will reduce annual losses through theft, estimated at $15,000,000, by half.

New Yorker Pays $25 to "Conscience" Fund

Washington.—"John Brown," who apparently lives in New York, squared accounts with the treasury by a contribution to the department's "conscience" fund. Announcement was made that $25 had been received and so deposited. Such a fund is maintained for anonymous deposits made by persons who feel they have "cheated" the government. Mr. "Brown's" method of making his contribution was somewhat different than is usual, however, for he took the trouble to buy a money order and make the amount payable to Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury.

Sargent, Former Cabinet Member, Collects Clocks

Ludlow, Vt.—Collecting and repairing old clocks is a hobby which for many years has brought enjoyment to former Attorney General John G. Sargent.

At his home here he has a huge collection of antique timepieces which is nationally known among clock connoisseurs.

To the interested visitor Sergent explains with pride that all his clocks, even the most ancient of them, are still running.

HEADLESS BODY OF WOMAN IS FOUND

Mysterious Murder Mystifies Authorities.

Yonkers.—Westchester county authorities are faced with the third murder of a woman in the township of Greenburgh since last April, the decomposed and partly dismembered body of a young woman having been found in a gully off the Ardsley road, on the Yonkers-Greenburgh line.

The spot is three miles from where Estie Pescox burned his murdered wife's body last April, and about six miles from where some one shot down Mrs. Elsa Marshall and dragged her body into the woods a few weeks ago, just as the Pescox trial was coming to a close.

Head and Hand Gone.

A young man, hunting in the woods near St. Andrew's Golf club, pushed his way through the heavy underbrush into the gully and stumbled over the body. He went to the home of District Attorney Coyne in Yonkers and told the prosecutor what he had found.

The prosecutor called several Yonkers policemen and the hunter guided them to the spot where he had seen the body.

The head and right hand were missing from the body. What little remained of the body was naked, except for a pair of black pumps on the feet. A chewy wedding ring and initial button gold ring, with three glass stones in it, were on the left hand. The twisted end of the neck was covered with thick dark reddish chestnut hair, which had been bobbed.

No Weapon Marks.

Coyne and the police examined the body minutely in the hope of finding the mark of a weapon, but were unsuccessful. The body was moved to a morgue in Yonkers, where Medical Examiner Amos O. Squire examined it.

Coyne said his opinion was that the body had been lying where it was found at least several weeks and possibly as much as three months. The body of Dorothy Pescox was found last April in a patch of woods, similar to the place where the latest body was found.

One Pig for Four Months' Food Wins Her Divorce

Boston.—It was a pig that wrecked their home, Mrs. Gladys Deeg of Stoughton testified in Norfolk Probate court, Dedham, where Judge Joseph R. McCoole granted her a divorce from John L. Deeg.

She charged him with neglect to provide sufficient support and also with cruel and abusive treatment—in that he gave her nothing to eat except pork for three months.

She said he killed the pig in November of 1928 and then supplied no other food to the house until February of this year, when she left him.

"Then it was a case of too much pig!" Judge McCoole queried with a twinkle in his eye.

"Yes, sir."

"That's enough for a divorce here." And the judge granted a decree nisi.

Mrs. Deeg said that her husband bought plenty of gasoline for his automobile but would give her no food for the house.

Gland Grafting Makes Tunneys of Young Boys

Paris.—A normal life span of 150 years may be possible for men and women of the future, in the opinion of Dr. Serge Voronoff, the Russian rejuvenation expert.

Gland-grafting operations he has tried on monkeys, rams and bulls, will enable man to attain a normal life of a century and a half, he said recently in an interview.

Results of such gland operations have remarkable effects not only on adults, but on children. He said children of nine could be given the force and vigor of the average person of twenty-five and the person living to be one hundred and fifty would retain the youthful force of thirty.

"I have experimented on all kinds of animals," Doctor Voronoff continued. "I have prolonged the life of rams to twenty-six years in comparison to the normal thirteen years. That gives promise of what can be expected by man."

SICK AT HIS STOMACH

"I was suffering from stomach trouble, in 1917," says Mr. C. K. Nelson, a railroad engineer living in Pulaski, Va. "I had a tightness in my chest, a shortness of breath. There seemed to be a heavy weight in the pit of my stomach, and I felt quite a bit of nausea, yet couldn't vomit. I tried different remedies, yet suffered on just the same.

"When I was West Virginia on a work train, I was in such a condition that I just gave up and came home. I couldn't stand to work, in my condition. Some one told me about Black-Draught. I started taking it in small doses and got relief. It helped after the first dose, and I went back to work."

When Mother's Sick

My mother's sick today, an' gee—
It makes me feel so bad to see
How sick she looks. But still she'll grin
Each time that I come around in.
You never hear my mother kick
When she is tired and feelin' sick.
She always says, and tries to smile:
"I'll be all right, Son—after while."

An' when I sit beside her bed,
She'll hold my hand and pat my head.
An' smile at me so sweet that I
Am awful frald I'm goin' to cry—
An' pretty soon, I hear her say:
"If I were you, I'd run an' play."
An' then I squeeze her hand some more,
An' sneak out easy through the door.

But, I don't want to play and run,
For I don't feel like havin' fun
When Mother's sick—and too, my Dad
Just acts so funny like, and sad—
An' golly, he is grouchy, too;
But I don't think he's mad, do you?
I think he feels the same as me,
For he likes Mother, too, you see.

But she told me this afternoon
That she'd be better pretty soon.
An' gee, but I do hope she will,
For I have surely had my fill
Of eatin' things that Daddy cooks—
An' I don't like their taste nor looks!
I tell you what, when Mother's sick,
We want her better mighty quick!

The American Home

The Federal Womens Clubs feel the need of more spirituality in the home, more definite religious training in the home.

The Fine Art of Living "and a better community" are the high aims of our General President, and can be accomplished in this way.

If the home is all right, the community, State and nation are all right. But if the home is as some say, "The palace in front of the garage" then the nation is in peril.

The club women desire to unite their efforts with those of the various churches and asist in bringing this great need before the people.

November 24th, the Sunday before Thanksgiving, has been designated as an appropriate time for the nation to consider the American Home. We and desire that on that day all ministers will preach on "More Religion in the Home" or give this subject prominence in their services.

Family of 18 Sleeps in Shifts in 3 Room House

Bretting, Mich.—By sleeping in shifts the family of 18 of Albert Cunningham here lives comfortably in a house of but three rooms.

Cunningham and his wife have 16 children ranging in age from nine months to twenty-one years. They live in the 27 per month house without difficulty by sleeping in groups thus keeping the beds almost continuously occupied.

It was explained that when "shift sleeping" was impractical it was possible to accommodate the entire family by putting part in the small basement.

Musician Keeps Fiddling Despite Wife's Fortune

Cincinnati, Ohio.—Otto Brasch, viola player in the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, is going to keep on playing his viola, although his wife has inherited an estate of $350,000. "I'm going right on with my fiddling," Brasch said emphatically. Brasch has been connected with the orchestra since 1912, and he sees no reason for quitting now. The Brasches, however, have bought a big car and intend to add a few other material comforts to their home life.

Millionaire Endows Cemetery for Pets

Indianapolis.—This city soon will have one of the first complete animal cemeteries in the United States under provisions of the will of Leo Kahn, President of the American Sanitary Lock corporation, who left an estate of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 to establish the cemetery and to build a home and hospital for friendless dogs, cats, horses and other animals.

The idea was suggested by Mrs. Vernon Castle McLaughlin of Chicago.

Burial lots will be sold but a portion will be reserved as a "potters' field" for animals owned by poor persons. A fund will be bought for the hospital and cemetery site.

Persons of means who send pets for treatment will pay, but homeless and friendless animals will be cared for without cost at the hospital.
